Let's talk about the significant role your mortgage loan credit report, prepared by Equifax Services, will play in processing your mortgage loan application

Equifax Services provides responsible Residential Mortgage Credit Reports to more than 8,000 mortgage lending institutions across the United States and Canada. Our experience and professionalism have earned us the reputation as the mortgage loan reporting people. We do not attempt to give you a credit standing. We do not own or operate a collection agency. We do not prepare investigative reports for mortgage lending purposes. We do not post your private data into public computers. Our Mortgage Loan report is an informative document, a history of your past credit, employment and banking transactions. We do not allow the information in your Mortgage Loan report to be used in a manner inconsistent with its original purpose.

Our concern is to prepare your Mortgage Loan report completely, accurately and as quickly as possible. To achieve this goal, we must work together. Expect to receive a phone call from an Equifax representative within a few days. Our reporter will ask additional details not provided in your loan application and review the information already obtained. This will give you the opportunity to correct possible errors, and enable us to complete an accurate Mortgage Loan report quickly.

Equifax Services is an important part of the business cycle. We take pride in our reliable services to our customers and their clients.
